WHAT IS GIARDIA?

Giardia is a tiny bug that causes diarrhea. Chlorine-tolerant, Giardia is often spread through swallowing contaminated water, but also through food and person-to-person contact.

HOW DO I AVOID GETTING THEM?

Wash hands after going to the bathroom, changing a diaper, gardening, handling a pet's poop, touching garbage, before eating, preparing food and cleaning a wound.

Avoid swallowing water from pools, hot tubs, streams, or ponds.

Avoid contact with poop. For instance, don't swim while having diarrhea or change diapers poolside.

FUN FACT

There is an increase in Giardia infections in the summer. This could be related to more people swimming in communal pools and swallowing pool water, or camping and drinking untreated water from lakes or streams.

WHO CAN GET IT?

Backpackers and campers

Travelers to areas with poor water treatment

Diaper-wearing children and their parents or caretakers

Swimmers
